LOCAL BRIEFS.

All quiet in Police circles yesterday.

A second hand Stevens' and Warren safe, and a good lot of bed feathers, can be obtained at E. W. Thomason & Co.'s.

Thirty nine Sheriffs have so far settled with the State Treasurer. Forty-five are yet to come, and only one day of grace left for them.

The mail train on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad was delayed yesterday evening several hours by a delay in the arrival of the Petersburg train at Weldon.

The annual meeting of Rescue Steam Fre Company will be held to-morrow night. Elections of officers and other important business will come before the meeting.

Henry Williams, Esq., of Shocco Township, Warren county, made this year 120 bales of cotton on 120 acres of ground. This farm sold several years ago for $3 per acre.

John N. Bunting, Esq., will sell at the Courthouse door in this place, on the 14th of December, a small tract of land, with good buildings thereon, erected some two miles from Raleigh. See notice.

The grand rally of the Good Templars Friday night was a grand success. Revs. Messrs Mangum and Pritchard made stirring addresses to a large audience, and it is to be hoped that much good was effected.

A barrel of brandy fell from a dray yesterday, in front of the Citizens' National Bank, and every drap was lost We were not present to behold the sad scene, but we condole with our friend Col. Anderson, who was in full view, saw it all wasting and couldn't help it.

Old Epizoot, the male dray ox of G T. Stronach & Bro., while standing in front of the Messrs. Stronach's store yesterday, was familiarly approached by young Graham Haywood, who attempted to pull his horns. "Epizoot," seemingly impressed with the idea that "too much familiarity breeds contempt," tossed Mr. Haywood about seven feet in the air, letting him down mirus the seat of his breeches.

HELP FOR THE POOR.—At a meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city, on Thursday evening, a committee was appointed to receive contributions from the citizens for the relief of the suffering and needy, said committee consisting of Messrs. A. M. McPheeters, W. C. Stronach and John Armstrong. Any one wishing to contribute can hand the same to either of these named gentlemen, or leave the contribution at either of the National Banks.

There is undoubtedly much need of assistance in our midst—the poor we have always with us. The cold weather will find many poor in this city, and the efforts of the Young Men's Christian Association are looking to the alleviation of the want and suffering that are occasioned by winter weather.

KATIE PUTNAM.—This favorite young Commedtrine, with her well selected troupe will make her first appearance on our stage Monday night. The Richmond and Norfolk papers speak in high terms of the character of the performance given by this Company in their respective cities. We would be pleased to see Tucker Hall crowded to morrow evening as a cordial greeting to this talented young actress. Tickets for sale at Branson's Book Store.

GOV. VANCE WITHDRAWS.—We learn that at the Conservative caucus last night, a letter was read from Gov. Z B. Vance, "unconditionally withdrawing his name as the Conservative nominee for United States Senator. We will publish his letter in full in our next issue.

In the same caucus the friends of Judge Merrimon also withdrew his name from the Senatorial contest.

OLE BULL'S CONCERT.—Any one who did not attend the concert of last Monday and who desired to obtain some information about its features and merit certainly did not find it in the article devoted to it the following Tuesday.

We intended giving a review of this entertainment sooner, but the crowded condition of our columns have prevented it.

The writer of this will attempt to bring before an indulgent reader the various pieces of concert and their rendering by the different performers.

The first artist who appeared was Mr. J. N. Pattision, a gentleman who ranks among the first pianists in this country, and who is so favorably known to the New York public. Mr. Pattison does not content himself with a mere technical reproduction of the theme before him, he enters fully into the soul of the composition, and with extraordinary dexterity he combines extreme delicacy of touch, clearness of phrasing and accuracy in the most rapid passages, and all these charms flowed from his fingers without the least perceptible effort.

It is a pity that he did not give us some of his reading of the old masters, such as Beethoven and Bach, which he is known to play so finely, but as a number of the audience could not appreciate the classical order of music, he was justified in selecting some more intelligible and brilliant pieces.

This first solo was a well known Russian air whose sweet and plaintive beauties were still more fully brought out by the Artist's own variations His second and last was a concert polka of his own composition, which he rendered in his usual brilliant style; it is one of those compositions which is always pleasing to an audience, calling forth an enthusiastic encore, which he responded to in the shape of a plantation dance, characteristic of the plantation negro; it was an entirely original production, although classed among the tricks of the art, it did not fail to make a decided impression upon the audience, who honored him with hearty applause.

Mr. Pattison, in accompanying Mr Ole Bull, had an extremely difficult and unthankful task, for it is known that the great Violinist, in his moments of inspirations, allows his genius full scope, without much regard to the trammels of Tempo, which renders it extremely difficult for an accurate player to follow him.

Miss Grazilla Ridgway was the next artist who appeared on the stage, although out of order on the programme. The lady has a fine sympathetic soprano, her upper notes are of unusual clearness and delicacy, a lack of softness however was perceptible in the middle notes. Her good qualities are so predominant that one overlooks her minor faults. Her whole appearance on the stage was decidedly modest and unassuming, her style and manner of singing was graceful and charming throughout, and in her acting she carried the audience completely with her, especially in the last piece from Crispino e la Comare, which she sang with Signor Ferranti, she proved herself to be fully capable of sustaining her part on the Operatic stage.

Signor Ferranti is one of the best buffos that adorn the modern stage, he has a clear sonorous and flexible voice, eminently adapted to his style of acting. His interpretation of Mici Rampolli femminini by Rossini, and especially the duet with Miss Ridgeway, are to be remembered for a fine time.

Mr. Ole Bull whose reputation as a violinist is world wide may justly be called the greatest performer on his instrument now living. To criticise him would be to criticise his style, which cannot be done. All great violinists such as Paganini, Spour, Vieuxtemps, Joachim, etc., have their peculiar manner and style of playing, and in every individual case, some excellence and superiority over the others may be claimed. In our artist's case, a peculiar and extraordinary warmth, and a wonderful power of touching the hearts of his hearers, are predominant features. It is needles to speak of his technique which is hardly to be equalled, if ever reached at all. In the lyric passages and those beautiful harmonics accompanying himself in pizzicato he thrills the most lethargic hearer.

We heartily congratulate the manager, Mr Turnbull, upon his success in bringing before our citizens an ensemble of such superior artists; it is highly creditable to his fine taste and judgment, and their sojourn in our city will always be one of the most pleasing recollections in our memory.

OUR CHURCHES TO DAY.—Divine services will be held at the following Churches to day, (Sunday.) Strangers and others in the city are earnestly and cordially invited to attend. Gentlemanly ushers will be present to conduct visitors to pews which are always free:

FRENCH SPOLIATION CLAIMS.—An advertisement elsewhere from James H. Causten, agent of the French Spoliation Claims, informs those who are interested in these claims that it is more than possible that the matter will be adjusted this winter. There are parties in this city largely interested in this movement, and there are doubtless many others in the State. Generation after generation has passed away, and these claims yet remain unsatisfied. Their history is briefly, as follows: They arose out of the seizure or destruction of over 1.500 American vessels, valued with their cargoes at $15 000.000 or $20.000.000, prior to 1801, which depredations were in retaliation for the refusal of the United States to be bound by treaty stipulations during the struggle of the colonies with Great Britain. These claims the United States years ago solemnly undertook to pay, and bills for the relief of the sufferers by the French spoliations have been before more than forty Congresses They have been favorably reported on by forty-one committees; they have seven times passed the Senate, and twice the House, and have been twice vetoed—by Presidents Polk and Pierce.

FOR SALE.—Charles Alston, Jr., of Warren county, advertises for sale in another column 130 acres of land in Warren, bordering on Shocco Creek.—It is considered a good piece of land.—See notice.

THE PEACE INSTITUTE CANTATA.—"Esther," a sacred Cantata, was rendered by the vocal class of the Peace Institute, on Friday evening, to a very large and highly fashionable audience. The class was assisted by the gentlemen of the Presbyterian choir of this city. The exercises were conducted by Prof. A. Baumann, of the Institute. The following were the personations:

Esther, Queen, Miss Jennie Hannah.
Ahasuerus, King of Persia and Media, Mr. W. S. Primrose.
Haman, Overseer of the Realm, Mr. G. C. Jordan.
Zeresh, Haman's wife, Miss Mary Faison.
Mordecai, Mr. L. D. Heartt.
Queen's First Maid of Honor, Miss Gertrude Waddill.
Reader, Mr. J. Stevens.

The performance commenced about 8½ o'clock and continued for more than an hour. There was an intermission of ten minutes between parts first and second.

All the parts were admirably performed without exception. The gentlemen acquitted themselves handsomely. While Miss Faison, as Zeresh, and Miss Waddill, as First Maid of Honor, received many compliments, Miss Hannah, as Esther, had the chief character to personate, and fully sustained the high reputation given her by our distinguished correspondent "B," a few weeks ago.

Miss Hannah's singing is pronounced by competent critics to be of the most superior order. She has a voice of exquisite melody and pathos, which will always enchain the attention and sympathies of her audience.

We do not know when we have enjoyed a more delightful occasion than the Cantata. Everybody seemed highly entertained and instructed. It was a rich vocal and literary treat—one rarely surpassed for real merit and excellent rendition.

The Peace Institute, under the able management of Messrs R. Burwell and Son and their associates, has a most flattering prospect before it.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—George W Brooks presiding—Friday, Nov. 30, 1872.

Court opened at 10 o'clock.

The jury in the case of the U. S. vs. Lucian Saunders, mention of which was made yesterday, returned a verdict at 8½ o'clock Friday night of not guilty.

Zack Royall, a U. S. witness, who it will be remembered was recognized at the last term of the Court in the sum of $500 for his appearance at this term, and who was subsequently arrested by the State authorities in Sampson county for the murder of Means Herron, by his own public confession, and committed to the jail of that county, is now present at this court by virtue of a writ of habeas corpus sued out by the District Attorney.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.—

N. R. Jones, Sheriff of Warren county, is in the city to settle with the Treasury the State taxes from Warren.

FRENCH SPOLIATION CLAIMS.

AGENCY FRENCH SPOLIATION CLAIMS,
OFFICE No. 1307 F St.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 5, 1872.

This Institution was established forty-nine years ago, with the undersigned as Agent and Protector of the original claimants—all of whom are long since dead, as also their second generation—their third generation are now living, but death and other casualties have rendered my record so far useless as to who and where they are to be found.

Notice is hereby given, to the legal representatives and heirs of the original claimants, that it is contemplated to press the claims to indemnity in both Houses of Congress, with united and earnest efforts of the claimants themselves, to a successful result, within the coming session.

The second Wednesday of December (only one month distant) has been appointed by the House of Representatives for the consideration of the pending bill of relief—and at the same time the Senate will resume their like consideration of the last session on a similar bill—and it is consequently believed that a final and conclusive decision of said bills of relief will be obtained within that session.

Therefore, all claimants, who failed to present their Memorials to Congress at the last session, are respectfully solicited to present them at the opening of the coming session, and to prepare them forthwith.

The office of the undersigned contains all official documents relating to the claims, and very extensive data collected from all sources within the past forty-nine years, lists of more than fifteen hundred vessels and cargoes captured by the French between the years 1792 and 1801, indemnity for which was assumed by the Government of the United States in virtue of the Convention with France of July 31, 1801.

The delays of action on this case, occasioned by the late rebellion, impeachment of President Johnson, and the excitement just terminated in the Presidential election, affords a free access to the attention of Congress—but, above all, the near approach of Congress, its short session, and much to be done by interested parties, points to the indispensable necessity for instant preparation by the claimants.

Printed blank Memorials will be furnished by the undersigned free of cost—also a printed pamphlet history and proceedings on the claims by both Governments and by Congress (at a trifling cost of printing) will be furnished to those who desire it, and shall so advise me by letter.

UNDAY.....DECEMBER 1, 1872.

DEATH OF HORACE GREELEY.

Our midnight dispatches in yesterday's paper gave us the sad intelligence of the death of Horace Greeley. He died at Tarrytown, New York, at 6½ o'clock p. m., on Friday.

Previous information had prepared the public for this event, as reports of his physical and mental prostration had been extensively circulated through out the country.

Mr. Greeley's death is attributed to the cares, anxieties and excitement, both of a private and public nature, which he had been called upon to experience within the past few weeks. Immediately after an exciting and exhausting political tour, during which he exhibited remarkable powers of endurance he was called home to the dying bed of his wife, and remained at her side until she breathed her last.

Mr. Greeley nursed his wife with sleepless care and devotion during the last few days of her extreme illness, and her death, followed soon after by his disastrous defeat for President, produced nervous prostration and weighed so heavily on him that he sank under the severe pressure on his bodily and mental systems. His death under the circumstances is peculiarly melancholy and distressing, and his bitterest political enemies will have their hearts touched with sympathy and sorrow at the painful termination of so eventful a life.

Now that the dust has been scattered over the mortal remains of Horace Greeley, the press of the country will pronounce its eulogies upon the career of one of the most remarkable men who ever figured in the political annals of America.

It will tell how a poor printer boy of obscure parentage and destitute circumstances, by a life of energy, devotion to duty, of uprightness and unflagging zeal, struggled on amid reverses of fortune until he reached the first rank of Journalists and established a paper second in influence, ability and power to no other in the land.

It will tell of the eccentricities of the old man with the white hat whose very foibles leaned to virtue's side, and whose political crotchets were the emanations of his own peculiar genius.

It will tell how faithfully he battled for what he believed to be right—how ardently he labored in the cause of the abolition of slavery—how zealously he sustained the government during the war—how magnanimously he stepped forward to sign the bail bond of the Rebel Chief and speak a kind word in favor of a magnanimous policy towards the war-wasted Southern States.

It will tell of the remarkable spectacle witnessed in the late Presidential campaign, of men who had heretofore been bitterest in their denunciations of Horace Greeley's political career, who had been taught always to regard him as their most implacable political adversary, as the arch enemy of their institutions, throwing up their hats and shouting praises to his name on account of the patriotic stand he had taken for peace and reconciliation.

The public press will tell all this and more. His political opponents will join in the tributes to his journalistic ability, his personal integrity, his innate kindness of heart, and his many generous and noble qualities. The voice of eulogy will speak forth his virtues—while his faults, except at the hands of the heartless and malicious, will not be exaggerated or treated of in an unbecoming or offensive manner. We may not say of him, De mortuis nil nisi bonum, yet we do confidently expect that if the mantle of charity will not conceal his errors, humanity will drown the voice of detraction and hush the hiss of malice and vituperation in the presence of the shadow of death.

THE GREELEY ELECTORAL VOTE.

Now that Horace Greeley is dead, the question arises, what will be the action of the Electors of the seven Southern States which cast their votes for Greeley and Brown?

The papers in Georgia have been discussing for some weeks the propriety of giving the vote of that State to President Grant, notwithstanding Greeley received several thousand majority at the Presidential election. It is stated that Hon. Alex. H Stephens, who, it is well known, advocated the O'Conor ticket, will address the Georgia Greeley and Brown Electors when they meet at Atlanta in the electoral college, in which he will take ground that as it will be of no use to vote for Greeley, the Electors should cast the vote of the State for Grant and Wilson. Mr. Stephens and several of the Democratic papers hold that it will be no breach of trust for the Electors to do this, inasmuch as the seven States which voted for Greeley cannot elect him—that their votes will be thrown away, and therefore it would be politic to give Grant the unanimous electoral vote of the country. On the other hand, it is contended that the Greeley Electors are bound in honor to stand by the nominees of the party—that they have no authority to vote for any other candidates—that they are instructed to vote for Greeley and Brown and no one else, and except in case of the death or withdrawal of the nominees they have no option in the premises.

Since Mr. Greeley is dead, the aspect is changed, and the question presents itself, Will the Conservative and Liberal Electors of the seven Southern states vote for a dead man for President?

The death of their nominee puts the matter in their discretion, it seems to us, and we are anxious to know what position they will take.

WHAT THE SOUTH ASKS.

We publish to-day an article from the Richmond Enquirer, in reply to the Washington Chronicle, in regard to the desire at the South to repeal the late amendments to the Constitution. The Chronicle seems to think the South is in favor of depriving the negro of the right of suffrage and is anxious for an opportunity to do so.

The South has had enough of agitation and political strife. Our people are willing to abide the Constitutional amendments, and do not propose to disturb them. Whatever may be their views as to the necessity or propriety of negro suffrage, they consider that the principle is engrafted in the National Constitution, and they believe the alteration of that instrument to distranchise colored voters would be attended by consequences more deplorable than the toleration of any evils which the system of universal colored suffrage will entail. There are numbers of persons in the South who favor the principle of negro suffrage on the ground of right and justice. But aside from individual views on this question, the matter is considered settled and irrevocably settled, and no reasonable man in the South proposes to discuss or renew it.

The South seems to be greatly misunderstood by the Northern press. All that her people ask is the privilege of managing their own affairs in their own way. They ask for an equality of rights with the Northern people. They ask not to be disturbed so long as they obey the Constitution and laws of the land. They ask that the yoke of political inequality and bondage be lifted from their necks. They ask nothing but what is right and reasonable, but what is just and honorable.

The South if left alone, in the undisturbed enjoyment of her rights, will improve and prosper, and grow powerful and wealthy. But so long as she is plundered by mercenary adventurers—so long as she is crushed by the hostile legislation of Congress so long as her citizens are denied the rights, privileges and immunities that are accorded those of the North, we can have no genuine peace, prosperity and happiness, but the hand of decay will wither and blight the fairest portion of creation.

The nearest approach we have had to a statement of the error in Republican reconstruction has been an intimation from a few Southern journals, that there can be no quiet for that section short of a distranchisement for the blacks. That was the idea of the Richmond Enquirer, avowed before election; and it did not fall far short of a response from the Chicago Tribune in harmony with it. The last named journal had discovered that colored enfranchisement involved a grave peril to free institutions. Is this the point of failure in the estimation of the Herald? Do the independent press wish to be understood as demanding a repeal of the constitutional amendments, and a repeal of the elective franchise so far as the colored man is concerned?—Washington Chronicle.

The Chronicle is mistaken. The Enquirer has not advanced any thing of the kind. It spoke of the universal colored suffrage which had been forced upon the South as the "sum of all the evils" of our reconstruction; but it did not propose an escape from that evil in the way the Chronicle intimates; nor is there a possibility that any change can be effected in the matter. It is, therefore, certainly out of the field of discussion. We can tell the Chronicle, and in a dozen words, that the South wants Gen. Grant to do for it. It wants him to withhold the Federal power and leave the people of each State free to manage their own local affairs, under their own laws, without interference so long as they refrain from any violation of the constitution of the United States or of the laws of Congress. If they have political differences let them be settled in their own way; and if the laws are violated, leave it to the local courts to deal with the violators. In a word, we desire to be treated precisely as the people of any Northern State are treated in our relations with the Federal government, and are ready to abide the consequences. In his appointments to office among us, all we ask is that he shall give us gentlemen whom we can respect, and who will be in sympathy with our own people. Let him do this, and then we will work out own destiny, hard as it is, even with colored suffrage and the ills it has entailed upon this section. No Southern journal asks the distranchisement of the blacks. The idea is too preposterous for a moment's serious thought. All we desire is to be fully trusted with our own affairs, and we will answer for the manner in which we keep faith and fulfill our part of the contract.

[From the Richmond Whig.

The Pennsylvania Corporation.

We observe every few days in financial organs distrusting comments in respect to this great monopoly. The reputation of a moneyed institution is as delicate as that of woman. The least breath of suspicion blasts it. We know nothing of the great monster and its resources; but it is evident that the sharp eyes of the financial world are suspiciously directed towards it, and if half that is intimated respecting it be true, its collapse is only a question of time. While it boasts the largest capital of any corporation in the world, its liabilities according to a writer in the New York Examiner, are out of all proportion to its means. With little cash in hand, and seven hundred millions of liabilities, no financial sagacity can guarantee against a catastrophe.

The Financier is, we believe, the highest authority, give its tacit approval to the following statement:

THE PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL RAILROAD.

To the Editor of the Financier:—Your orrespondent, "L. L. L.," in the Financier of last week, makes several incorrect statements in his table of the number of miles operated by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

For example, the distance from Birmingham to Turtle Creek is only about six to eight miles, the road is unbuilt, and yet it is represented in the tabular statement as 85 miles in operation. When built this same "Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad," of which the Birmingham and Turtle Creek is a part, will share the same fate as the Chartiers Valley Railroad, the old Pan Handle, &c., namely: The subscribers' interest to the stock and bonds will be informally sold out some day, and Messrs. Thomson, Scott & Co., will own it and the Pennsylvania Central Railroad will endorse it; and, when the time for liquidation comes, if Messrs. Thomson, Scott & Co. cannot pay or borrow (renew), the Pennsylvania Central Railroad will have to go under, and some improvement company of Messrs. Thomson, Scott & Co., will own the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, with all its branches, legs and arms, and there will be a grand financial panic and political overthrow.

I take it that the beginning of this policy was in the purchase of the old Pennsylvania State Canal and its improvements for three and a half millions. Besides killing the canal business, they have realized over 10,000,000 of profit out of the transactions, and have never paid the State the purchase money. They gave their obligation and then shifted it, first into a loan to the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company, and then into the Alleghany Valley Railroad. To-day the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company owns both railroads.

The Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company borrows all the European capital it requires, by issuing bonds on some new enterprise, completed or begun (as the Alleghany Valley Railroad extension)—and endorsing the bonds with the guarantee of the Pennsylvania Central.

In 1862 the liabilities of the road were about thirty millions. The company's endorsements, or contingent liabilities, are about seven hundred millions, besides. The railroads whose obligations are endorsed are worth, perhaps, one-half the amount, with a net annual loss on the average or total operation. They show an actual increase of debt seventy millions in ten years, with only a construction expense of about six millions. They marked their bonds for the uses of money from 50 per cent discount to 15. They collect subscriptions to steamship and other companies. In short, the financial management of the Pennsylvania Central railroad has been so notoriously wrong, that the stockholders will have to seize its control from the hands of these designing men, repudiate their actions and endorsements, and make them disgorge their unfairly acquired possessions, or the Pennsylvania Central railroad stockholders will be their confederates in bringing ruin and panic upon the country, politically as well as financially. This the good, conscientious Wm Thaw, of Pittsburg, feels and knows!

Pittburg, November 5. J. G.

Connecticut and New Hampshire will elect seven Representatives next Spring.

[From the Salisbury Watchman.

United States Senator.

The Legislature has made two efforts to elect a United States Senator in place of John Pool, whose time expires on the 4th of March next, but has thus far failed.

Ex Gov. Z. B. Vance has received the regular nomination of the party, and if for no other reason, we think every true Conservative and Democrat should vote for him. But there are a few that stick to Judge Merrimon, and although greatly in the minority, may yet force Vance's friends to abandon him in order to beat Pool.

The showing is very bad for certain so called Conservatives and is greatly to be deplored. But if Judge Merrimon's friends will not unite on Vance who is now clearly entitled to their support, perhaps they can be induced to go for some other good man. There are others equally worthy and many of them. There can be no lack of a worthy representative, while such names as Burton Craige, F. E. Shober, W. A. Graham, Gen. Scales, W. N. H. Smith, Gerge Davis, Gaither, Clingman Armfield, Jarvis, Maj. Robbins, Ashe, and a host of others remain among us. But, by all means let us have harmony.

[From the Salisbury Watchman.

Apportionment.

We call attention to an article in another column copied from the Raleigh NEWS, in which the great inequalities of the Legislative Apportionment of 1868 are shown up. Gov. Caldwell in his recent message makes an effort to prove that the present apportionment made by the last Legislature is unfair. The article we refer to shows clearly that the apportionment of 1868 made by the Radical Convention was much more unequal than the present one.—The special pleading of the Governor is worse than idle. The truth is there never has been, and never can be, an apportionment made in which there will not be very considerable inequalities. To lay off ninety-three counties, of various size and population and the small and large ones mixed together promiscously, into Districts so as to elect fifty Senators, is a complicated problem which does not admit of being solved with precision, there will remain unavoidable irregularities and inequalities. If any one thinks otherwise, let him take the census and the map and try to work it out for himself—and he will soon quit grumbling about the way it has been done.

THE Battleboro Advance says a pre[illegible]ium was recommended, at the Wil[illegible]mington Fair, to J. G. Arrington, of Nash, for ten game chickens.

THE Salisbury Watchman says Mr John Anderson Hall died quite suddenly of congestion of the brain, last Friday morning. He was about 20 years of age.

THE Statesville Intelligencer says Hon John H. McLaughlan, an old citizen died at his residence near this place last Sunday night, after a protracted illness, in an advanced age.

The Pee Dee Herald says the gin-house of William Little, near Ansonville, was set on fire last Thursday night, the 21st inst., and consumed with all its contents. There were about 1,500 pounds of lint cotton in the lint room and from 30,000 to 35,000 pounds of seed cotton in the house.

Methodist Protestant Conference of North Carolina.

FIRST DAY.

The Conference assembled at Tabernacle, about nine miles southeast from Greensboro on the 27th of November.

The President of last year called the Conference to order.

Rev. R. H. Wills, of the Halifax Circuit was elected Secretary.

Rev. J. W. Wellons, fraternal messenger from the Christian church was introduced to the Conference and invited to address them at an hour that may suit his convenience on to morrow.

The President submitted his report, in which he spoke of the prosperity of the church at large, and the zeal and faithfulness with which the ministers labored the last year.

Most of the afternoon was spent in the examination of ministerial character.

When the name of Rev. Jordan Reminger was called, Rev. C. A. Pickens, of the Winston circuit, in some appropriate and feeling remarks, announced the death of this devoted minister—that he was with him when he died, and that his death was peaceful and happy.

Remarks upon the character and devoted life of this devoted minister were made by Revs. Paris, Pegram, Gray and others, and a committee was appointed to write an obituary, to be spread upon the journals of the Conference.

Adjourned to meet to-morrow at 9 o'clock. G.

SECOND DAY.

Conference continued the examination of ministerial character, which consumed most of the morning.

A resolution was introduced by Rev. J. R. Ball, looking to the educational interest of the Church.

The object of this resolution is to advance the education of young men, who intend to enter the minis ry.

The resolution was adopted, and a committee consisting of Revs. J R. Ball, C. A. Pickens and Dr. A. C. Harri appointed to report upon it.

The pulpit was filled to-day, by Rev J. W. Wellons, who took for his text, Romans viii: 35, "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ?"

He referred in remarks to the great need of some object for man to love; when isolated from his fellows, he could not be happy; spoke of Abraham's great love for his Maker, that moved him to offer up his son, as a sacrifice in obedience to the commands of God. The contention of Elijah with the prophets of Baal, and God's sending down the fire to consume the sacrifice. Moses leading the children of Israel through the wilderness, which was done because of their great love for Him.

He also showed what effect the love of the world had upon some, that the fashions and riches of the world separated them from His love. These things were sometimes made idols of and were worshipped in the place of God. Exhorted his congregation to obey His commands and be faithful.

Rev. R. H. Wills, of the Halifax Circuit, was elected President for the ensuing year.

The next Conference is to be held at Friendship, in Davidson county, about two miles from Yadkin College. G.

The colored person who received $105 for his vote at Poughkeepsie was decieved. The money is all good but $100.

The New York Sun contradicts the rumor that Colonel Tennie C. Cliff's sable regiment have resolved to storm Ludlow street jail and liberate the fair Colonel.

Father Tom Burke, the eloquent Dominican priest, who is replying to Mr. Froude's lectures, has promptly denounced the rowdyism noticed by the Post, and says that no Irishman worthy of his country would have been guilty of such conduct.

Alexander H. Stephens visited Atlanta, Ga., last Wednesday, it being the first time he has left his home in Crawfordsville, in four years. He has been afflicted with rheumatism, but is now in excellent spirits, and, it is said, bids fair for a long period of activity yet.

Mr. George Alfred Townsend and Mr. Donn Piatt have associated themselves in a new evening paper in Washington.

Any daily Journal which has not had an article on Mansard roofs has neglected a very plain duty.

The Leesburg, (Va.) Semi-Weekly Telegram has suspended publication.

A Texas paper has an interesting department of "Delayed Telegrams."

This is strictly a

HOME LIFE COMPANY.

Its Officers and Directors are citizens of the State, of high character for business capacity, enterprise and probity. It offers every that Northern Companies do, with the great additional consideration that the capital is kept within the State, and, therefore, helps to build up and foster Home Institutions.

Another important fact to be considered is that the Wilmington Life has thus far obtained A VERY MUCH LARGER INTEREST for the money invested at home, than any of the New York Companies receive for their investments, according to their sworn statements before the Commissioner of that State.

These unquestionable facts should commend this Company, above all others, to our people. Let it be born in mind that millions of dollars received for Life premiums have been sent North since the war, which at once drains the South and enriches the plethoric capitalists of the North. If there was no other consideration, safety, fairness and cheapness being equal why North Carolinians should INSURE AT HOME. this were more than sufficient.

THE WILMINGTON LIFE

has excellent special features.

It places no restriction on Residence or Travel; it makes no extra charge for Female risks; and its Policies are incontestable after Five Years.

Its business is managed economically. Its risks are taken with equal caution. Its investments are made judiciously.

Its motto is:

"ECONOMY, PROMPTNESS, FAIRNESS."

NOON DISPATCHES.

The Death of Horace Greeley—What the Tribune Says.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The Tribune says: The melancholy death of the Editor and founder of the Tribune, though for a few days, it has been expected by his family and intimate friends, falls upon us with all the shock of sudden calamity. He had reached indeed a ripe old age, but time had not laid its withering touch upon him. His splendid constitution easily bore the strain of enormous labor, his mind was as fresh and strong and suggestive as in the prime of life, his generous impulse were unchilled by disheartening experiences through the trying campaign which has just closed; his physical vigor and his intellectual activity surprised even those who knew him best, and seemed to promise many years of usefulness. It is certain that no history of the most critical period in our National life can be written in which Horace Greeley shall not be a conspicuous figure, but the noblest career in his eyes was that which is given up to others wants. The successful life was that which is worn out in conflict with wrong and woe; the only ambition worth following was the ambition to alleviate human misery and leave the world a little better than he found it, that he had done it was the consolation which brightened his last days, and assured him he had not lived in vain.

It is not for us in the first hour of our loss to paint his character or catalogue his virtues, although for several years we have missed the inspiration of his presence and guidance of his wise counsel. His spirit has never ceased to animate those chosen to continue his works, and the close bond of sympathy between the chief and his assistants has never been broken. We have his praises to the poor whom he succored, to the lowly whom he lifted up, to the slave whose back he saved from the lash, to the oppressed whose wrongs he made his own. The Herald in its editorial on Greeley says: "He has in a mistaken aspiration for a higher field of usefulness and power, and glory than journalism, fallen a sacrifice to his political ambition. He had failed to appreciate the commanding position which he had secured as a leading American journalist, and leaving it to pursue the "ignis fatuus" of the Presidency, he dropped the substance for the shadow of a great distinction, otherwise the history and the enduring reward of Mr. Greeley's industrious and useful career are full of encouragements to young men, who without capital, personal influence or powerful friends, have the battle of life before them."

The Last Moments of Horace Greeley.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The accounts published of Mr. Greeley's last moments represent him to have been conscious during the day. As is usual in cases of inflamation of the brain, his physical suffering was extremely slight, but increased and morbid action of mind was evident from exterior manifestation. He was asked, "Do you know that you are dying?" Without tremor or emotion, he answered, "Yes." Again, when asked if he recognized Mr. Reid, he looked up with immediate recognition, and lifting his hand, grasped Mr. Reid's and feebly said distinctly, "yes." His last words were, "It is done." The face is hardly changed, only settling a little into a look of perfect peace.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

The Alabama Legislature Muddle.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 30.—This morning a detatchment of the 7th U. S. cavalry marched to a point twenty yards from the capitol grounds and bivouacked. Intense excitement followed, but on learning that the troops were intended for a mere posse comitatus, and not to drive the Legislature from the capitol, the excitement subsided somewhat.

The Legislature at the capitol passed a bill and sent it to Governor Lewis, but he refused to receive it.

A joint resolution was passed raising a committee to communicate the facts by telegraph to the Government at Washington, and appointing a delegate to present a written statement of the case to the President. The Legislature express great confidence that the President will sustain them when the facts are laid before him.

In answer to a committee from the capitol, Gov. Lewis yesterday replied that the two bodies claim his recognition, that the members of the other received a majority of the votes cast, and that he could not recognize the capitol Legislature, because, if the persons whom he said did not receive a majority were excluded, the body would be without a quorum.

The court house body did nothing to-day, but has been in secret session a considerable portion of the day.

The Advertiser, a central Liberal Democratic organ of the State, in its issue of to-morrow morning, says that "in view of the death of Mr. Greeley, we recommend all the Greeley Electors cast their votes for Grant, and make his election unanimous. In return let us ask only for peace, for protection against vagabonds and scoundrels; or at least that the Government will allow us fair play, and maintain the supremacy of law and order. Our struggle has not been for men but for safety, law and civilization.
